USEFUL INFORMATION FOR NEW VOLUNTEERS RETAIL SHOP AT SWANAGE

HISTORY

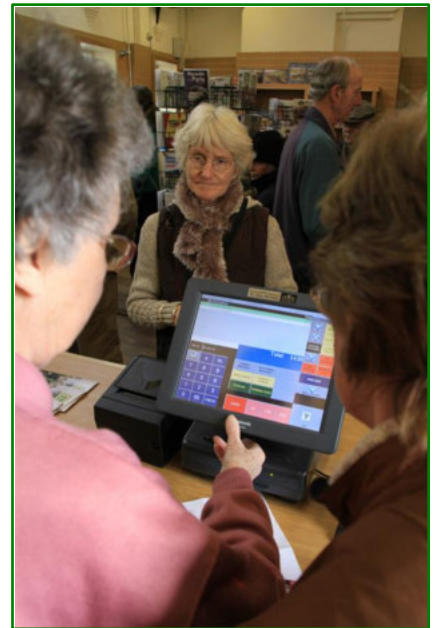

In February 1976 Swanage Railway Volunteers gained access to the disused and boarded up station building at Swanage. The 1884 Purbeck Stone building had not been used since the last British Railways train ran on January 1st 1972, and after a referendum amongst local townspeople, of whom a massive 83% voted in favour of wanting their railway service back, Swanage Town Council granted a lease to those early volunteers. Almost immediately after gaining access to the building the Shop was established in the old parcels office, which had been greatly extended and enlarged by the Southern Railway in 1938. Adjacent to the retail area, the Shop Manager's office and store room were established in the former "front room" of the Station Master's house. In those early days (and after) the income generated by the Shop was crucial in helping to finance the embryonic Swanage Railway, the first track being laid by hand. The shop was extensively refurbished in early 2010 to enable a larger range of stock as well as improved stock control and management reporting.

THE PRESENT

The entrance to the Railway Shop is situated on Platform 2 at Swanage Station. It is open most days throughout the year except on Christmas Day and is usually quite busy, especially when trains are operating. It stocks a large range of goods, mostly railway-orientated, including books, magazines and model railway items. A variety of "Thomas the Tank Engine" and Chuggington merchandise is also on sale. We also stock confectionary, ice creams, soft drinks, post cards and various railway souvenirs, which are in demand during the Summer holiday season. We have recently extended our range of local book and walking guides as well as natural history books related to the Jurassic Coast.

VOLUNTEERING

Volunteers who help in the Shop usually commit to a regular day in the week on a full or half day basis; some staff also offer to cover other shifts if necessary. Full training is given and no previous experience is required. Volunteers in the Shop are issued with passes which allow free travel on the Railway and free parking at Swanage and Norden; a discount is also available on Shop goods. Dress is optional, and a Railway apron is supplied. The Swanage Railway operates a documented Youth Protection Policy to safeguard children. The policy of the Swanage Railway Trust is that all Volunteers should be Members. For further information please contact:
